

Hello,

We've put this together as an alternative to our usual Sunday service. If you have a spare 15 minutes, please do give it a watch and let us know what you think.

If you would like to do the craft activity, you will need: a clean jam jar; some tissue paper or toilet paper; a tea light; PVA glue. If you do not have glue, see a recipe below.

We hope you are all keeping well. Do get in touch if you need anything.

Much love,

The Ministry Team

Homemade Glue recipe

- 2 oz chilled water
- 8 oz boiling water
- 3 tbsp plain flour
- 1 tbsp sugar

Mix the chilled water and flour together in a cup or bowl. Once smooth and lump free, boil the remaining 8 ounces of water. Once at boiling point, (with adult supervision) pour in the watery floury mix and stir all together over the heat until it starts to thicken and get gloopy! Once gloopy enough, take the pan off the heat and as the mixture cools, mix in the sugar. Keep stirring as it cools. Once warm, pour into the bowl and start using it as an alternative to PVA glue.
